In the early 1900s, the bustling Minneapolis Uptown area was the perfect home for young Albert Abdallah's entrepreneurial spirit. Possessing the natural gifts of a master chocolatier, the Lebanese immigrant and his Swedish wife Helen shared a passion to create only the highest-quality chocolates and caramels. Since then, the Abdallah family's secret recipes have passed down through five generations, carrying with them the promise to uphold their superiority and create only confections that would match their grandeur.
